

LEARNING NEW STORIES

An Invitation to Kufunda Learning Village

Join us for a learning journey and learning camp into a lived experience of the world of Kufunda Learning Village in Zimbabwe.

It is clear that the world is living through a big transition. In it much is falling apart, the old is crumbling in many ways and many places, but the new is not fully born yet, not fully known.

The new story is born in the space of uncertainty of frail new beginnings. Zimbabwe has been in this space for over a decade now. We are learning a lot. And it's about more than resilience, it is about crafting a new story, a new way. It is about finding our way home. This learning journey, this Kufunda camp, is about connecting to the new story as we are already beginning to live it – and it is about knitting our selves and our souls back together moving way beyond the break down.

Kufunda Village is an incubator of new ways of living; but also a place of spirit – held by the ancestors at our backs. It is a place where new possibilities can arise, where magic is made tangible!

“Kufunda is a place of freedom, where we have a chance to think and act differently - learning and sharing as a family”

Come with Family

We invite fellow travellers to join us amongst Kufunda's rocks, trees and people for 10 days of exploration around what we are learning about birthing a new world, remaining deeply connected to the best of the old. During our time together we will both learn from the experience of Kufunda as a learning village and from a variety of people and organizations building a new society in Zimbabwe. We are inviting us all to step into an intergenerational and translocal space – where all voices are heard and where we can allow grief and fear to be transformed into active hope.

Come with family and children to learn from the power of coming together in celebration of life. Help hold our story space, to hear our story, share our story, speak our story, and spread our story! It is a story for all of us.

Dates:

July 18-26, 2015.

We begin at 5 pm on the 18th and end at 1 pm on the 26th.

There will be opportunities for local participants to join shorter segments of the programme.

Cost:

$1000 - $3000 USD.

One of the things we've been learning in Zimbabwe over the last decade is how to dance with many different economies at the same time. One key question all over the world is how to be in right economic relationship with each other and with this small planet of ours. We invite you to dance with us with the economy of this gathering. Basically, we want to be able to cover all costs, contribute to the economy of Kufunda Village, and pay a reasonable fee to our three hosts.

We offer you a sliding scale of $1000 - $3000 USD, including lodging and food and travel in Zimbabwe. Yes, it is a wide spread. We know that each of us have different access to currency. What can you afford for this amazing experience? You pick what you consider to be a fair price and pay it.

If $1000 is still beyond your pocketbook right now, please e-mail us and let's talk. If you are able to fit this within a training budget and can afford more, please e-mail us and let's talk as well. This is an experiment. Let's see what it takes to be in right relationship.

Kufunda is....

“Kufunda is a community that learns and invites individuals to be their best with each other, regardless of background, colour or educational status in relationship with nature and what is and what could be.”

Post Learning Journey Wilderness Adventure

When you travel so far you might wish to join us in one of the most remarkable parks in Zimbabwe (and possibly Africa!). Mana Pools is a park for the animals. There are no fences anywhere, and people are free to wander through the park at leisure. This makes for incredible encounters. Elephants wandering into your camp while you're having dinner, or lion encounters on foot. Mana Pools is on the Zambezi river, and as we will be at the beginning of the dry season the animals will be migrating to the river for water, making sightings inevitable.

Join a trip to Mana Pools with Mwinilunga safaris including a licensed guide (!) from the 27th- 31st of July.

Price: 1180 USD per person. Children discounted.
